Note JLG had a floating studio using the hull of a WW2 RCN Harbour Craft called the KATHLEEN RH, a beautiful boat. In the summer of 1952, while cruising through the Lahave Islands with his friend John Little R.C.A., and my mother, the KATHLEEN blew something serious in the engine. There was a lengthy enforced stay in the Riverport/Lahave neighborhood during which he produced this painting. The lower Lahave was Jack's base of operations during the summers 1949-1952.

Many thanks to John Gray, Mr. Jack Gray's son, for this anecdotal information.
